Our aim has not been reached and the aim of the enemies to crush our country and our allies has not been achieved."

FOUNDER OF GREEN ACRE DIES SUDDENLY

Miss Sarah J. Farmer Was the Daughter of a Noted Inventor and a Woman of Marked Personality

Miss Sarah J. Farmer, the founder of Greenacre, the summer colony organized by her at Elliot, for the free discussion of religion, died suddenly at her home shortly before midnight on Wednesday. Up to that morning she had been in very good health physically.

Miss Farmer was born in Elliot, July 19, 1840. Her father was Moses G. Farmer, the famous electrical expert, who was a native of Boscowen. Her mother was Olive Tobey Shapleigh, a member of the prolific Elliot family. The father was graduated from Dartmouth college and went to Elliot to become principal of the Elliot Academy. Subsequently he went to Salem, Mass., and thence to Newport, R. I., where he entered government employ, but Sarah's early days were passed at the native home.

The father's home at Elliot was the first house in the world wired for and lighted by electricity. He invented the first alarm telegraph system, so elaborately branched by Gamewell, and he had a hand in the invention of the telephone. He and Alexander Graham Bell disputed the right to the telephone. As a consequence of long legal proceedings, Farmer's fortune was reduced to $60,000 when he died. This amount was left to Sarah and represents a small portion of the amount she had sunk into Greenacre.

Sarah assumed her father's traits. She was a student. She interested herself in religion, the Congregational as a matter of succession, and discussed religious questions from the platform. She attended the Chicago exposition and interested herself with the Parliament of Religion. While there she divined a summer congress where Jew and Christian and all the others might freely come and shout their religions to the breezes.

So the colony was founded. Her native health was chosen. Col. Francis Keefe and others had made an unprofitable investment in a summer hotel known as the Greenacre house, so Miss Farmer bought it of them and much of the surrounding land. Her version was that it is sinful to make money. Whenever Greenacre hotel showed a balance on the right side, Miss Farmer and her constitution quickly saw to it that the money was thrown away.

When Miss Farmer's money was exhausted, Col. Francis Keefe, an adopted son of Moses G. Farmer and her companion of girlhood days, and others organized the Greenacre Fellowship to continue the work begun by Miss Farmer.

For the past ten years Miss Farmer's mind has been in an unsettled condition and she was confined in several sanitariums. At the Bull trial in Maine, her followers admitted that she and Mrs. Ole Bull were obsessed by a Persian cult and by the awamis envoys of a religious worship and belief kindred to Buddhism. Her entire objection to the will of religious practitioners and the physical and mental strain occasioned by the management of Greenacre have reduced the founder of Greenacre to this unsettled mental condition.

In August, last, Miss Farmer while confined in a local sanitarium, was forcibly removed to her home at Elliot where she remained in contentment up to the end. She is survived by an adopted son, an aunt, Mrs. Rogers of York Beach and two cousins Miss Emma Hammond of Elliot and Miss Marguerite Rogers of York Beach.

GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP OF RAILROADS

Is Inevitable Unless Government
Changes Its Attitude Toward Railroads of Country.

(Special to The Herald)

Washington, Nov. 23—The railroads of the country made today a flat demand for a revolutionary change of the government towards the railroads.

General Counsel Peter Thorne for the railroads told the Newlands joint committee who are investigating interstate railroad conditions, that unless the present attitude of the government is changed, government ownership of the railroads of the country is inevitable. Mr. Thorne in his opening before the committee outlined the position: the railroads had been put in by the government regulations. He declared the present system had also precluded any new railroad construction and greatly hampered the credit of railroads. He also said the government had limited and restricted the service and income of railroads without taking any steps to help them in any way meet their increased expenses.

PORTSMOUTH YARD NAMED AS SUBMARINE BASE

Officially Chosen by Secretary Daniels
as One of the Two Government Yards
For the Construction of Undersea
Crafts on Atlantic Coast

Rumor and conjecture that Portsmouth might be made one of the U. S. Navy submarine bases was set at rest at midnight. The Portsmouth Navy Yard will be one of the two submarine naval bases and the department will start at once fitting out the yard for the purpose of aiding in the construction of the under water craft and the necessary docking facilities for the U-boats and their "mother" ships. This has been definitely settled and a special dispatch received here shortly after midnight states that Secretary of the Navy Daniels has made his official announcement to that effect.

In the official program as announced by the secretary the navy yards at Norfolk, and Philadelphia will be fitted for the construction of "capital" ships and the Portsmouth navy yard and the Charleston navy yard will be fitted to take over the entire work of submarines on the Atlantic coast. In making this decision Secretary Daniels does not intend to curtail any of the construction work of the Portsmouth Navy Yard and will continue to have much of the electrical parts constructed and other work increased rather than decreased. The excellent work done by the local yard in construction of the only sub-sea boat made in a government yard has convinced the department that Portsmouth can make good submarines.

By making the local station one of the two submarine bases on the coast the work at the yard will be greatly increased for the little craft requires a great deal of attention. It was hinted, although no word of confirmation was received, that the department was considering the advisability of having torpedoes made here in addition to the building of the submarines.

ELECTORAL VOTE OF CALIFORNIA MAY BE BARRED

Secretary of State Predicts This Action If Errors Are Not Corrected.

Sacramento, Cal., Nov. 23.—Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan predicted that unless certain mistakes and omissions discovered in returns of the election from Yuba county and Orange county are corrected he will withhold the certificates of election to presidential electors from California.

Should this be done there undoubtedly will be delay if not created a serious situation, possibly affecting even the re-election of President Wilson since the election depends on the votes of the thirteen presidential electors from California.

Following the statement issued by Jordan concerning the situation:

"Under the provisions of section 1313 of the political code it is the duty of the secretary of state to compare and estimate the votes given for electors. Such comparisons and estimates are to be made as soon as returns are received from all the counties in the state.

"In Marysville, precinct No. 3, 12 Democratic electors are credited with 98 votes each, but the votes received by Loren A. Handley, Democratic elector have not been credited because the election clerks failed to include the vote in their returns to the supervisors. The supervisors could not ascertain such vote, and therefore the county clerk was unable to include it turns from this county are incomplete. "In the county of Orange a more in the returns to this office. The registering case of disfranchisement is presented. All the voters of Orange township precinct have been denied an expression of their wishes as indicated by the votes. Because the tally lists are in the sealed envelopes, containing the ballot the board of supervisors could not ascertain the vote in that precinct and the returns certified to this office are not complete because of such omission.

"If these mistakes are not corrected, why cannot other mistakes be permitted to occur in other counties and precincts and thus the will of the voters be thwarted and confusion result?

"It is the duty of the Democratic and Republican state central committees to take immediate steps to have these mistakes corrected even if the aid of the courts must be invoked, otherwise the secretary of state may deem it his duty to withhold certificates of election by presidential electors in order that an evil precedent may not be established."

In order to straighten the legal tangle that has arisen over the election returns from Yuba and Orange counties the superior courts of those counties must order the ballot boxes reopened, and the count rendered complete in the opinion of James Cronin, state statistician.

At the office of Attorney General Webb the official opinion was voted that the secretary of state could not certify to the returns for the state unless the vote of every precinct was found correct in the official canvass.

CHILD'S TONGUE BECOMES COATED IF CONSTIPATED

When cross, feverish and sick give "California Syrup of Figs."

Children love this "Fruit Laxative," and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so nicely. A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels, and the result is, they become lightly clogged with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, feverish, don't eat, sleep or act naturally, breath is bad, system full of cold, has sore throat, stomach-ache, or diarrhoea. Listen, Mother! See if tongue is coated, then give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the system, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs" because it is perfectly harmless; children love it, and it never fails to act on the stomach, liver and bowels.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

DECLARES EIGHT-HOUR LAW IS UNCONSTITUTIONAL

Federal Judge Makes This Decision on Adamson Statute in Order to Get Supreme Court Ruling

Kansas City, Nov. 22.—The Adamson eight-hour law was held unconstitutional here today by Judge William C. Hook, in United States District Court. Judge Hook directed the receivers of the Missouri, Oklahoma & Gulf Railroad, who brought the original action in this case, to enjoin the law from going into effect, to assist the Government in expediting the case to the Supreme Court of the United States for final decision and instructed them, through their attorneys, to invite the representatives of every railroad in this country to participate in the hearings before the United States Supreme Court.

This was requested in the Government's motion to dismiss the injunction petition of the railroad, the Government desiring to avoid prolonged, unnecessary and scattered litigation that would be made necessary by the hearing of countless similar suits filed by every rail system in every Federal district in the United States through which their lines run.

It is expected that the ultimate decision as to whether the law will go in to operation Jan. 1 will be handed down before that time. A transcript of the present case will be filed in the United States Supreme Court before it convenes Dec. 4.

Text of Judge Hook's Decree follows: The text of Judge Hook's decree follows:

"This is an independent suit to enjoin the Adamson law, upon the ground that it is contrary to the constitution. In the character of the arguments the plaintiffs' bill of complaint and presumptions of law, but a request by the Department of Justice to aid the progress of a case consistently with the rights of everyone cannot be declined, certainly not for personal considerations.

"Upon a consideration of the Adamson law and of what is said of its practical effect and what was intended to be accomplished by it, the judgment is that as the court construes the terms of the law, it cannot be sustained. Since both parties have said they would not plead further whatever the decision might be, a decree will be entered for the plaintiff, reciting that the defendant prays and is allowed an appeal in an open court. The case in which the plaintiffs were appointed receivers is in charge of the judge who is acting here. An order will be entered in that case directing plaintiffs and their counsel to cooperate with the Department of Justice in lodging the appeal in the Supreme Court by Dec. 4 next and in then moving for the advancement thereof such early hearing as that court may find it consistent to grant; also to invite counsel for all railroad companies and others similarly interested in the question involved to participate in the presentation of the motion to advance and in the arguments on the merits as fully as though their clients were parties to this litigation. Though the decree of the court in the case here will be final in form yet because of the exceptional circumstances the plaintiffs will be directed to keep their accounts and be prepared promptly to pay their employees on the basis of the Adamson law, should the decree be not sustained."

Following Judge Hook's decision, Frank Hagerman, special counsel for the Government, gave notice of an appeal, which will be certified by the court late today. Mr. Hagerman also moved that the railroad's action against the officers of the railroad brotherhoods who were made joint defendants with the Government either be dismissed or that the brotherhoods' officers be permitted to take an appeal similar to that of the Government. This action also will be passed on by Judge Hook.

A STITCH IN TIME.

Portsmouth People Should Not Neglect Their Kidneys.

No kidney ailment is unimportant. Don't overlook the slightest backache or urinary irregularity. Nature may be warning you of approaching dropsy, gravel or Bright's disease. Kidney disease is seldom fatal if treated in time, but neglect may pave the way. Don't neglect a lame or aching back another day. Don't ignore dizzy spells, irregular or discolored urine, headaches, weariness or depression. If you feel you need kidney help begin using the reliable, time-tried remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills. For 50 years, Doan's have been found effective. Endorsed by Portsmouth people.

Mrs. A. B. Joy, 47 Myrtle Ave., Portsmouth, says: "My back gave me an awful lot of trouble and I had stiffness and dull pains just over my hips. Headaches were of frequent occurrence and pains sometimes shot from my shoulders into my head. My feet also swelled. At night my kidneys were very frequent in action and mornings I felt all tired out. Finally I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from Phillips' Pharmacy, and they helped me right from the start and corrected this trouble. Since then, they have always given me great benefit whenever it has been necessary for me to use them."

An Open Letter to

Oscar Straus

Chairman Public Service Commission

Dear Mr. Straus:

You are a man of infinite variety. You have served your Nation as a member of the President's Cabinet and as Ambassador to Turkey, and now you are serving your State as Chairman of the Public Service Commission. In every instance your service has been 100% efficient.

Now then, because of your experience, your attainments and your studious mind, you have learned to know the people and their needs—you have learned their material condition and are familiar with the things that affect their daily lives. Hence—

If the whole people were to arise today and cry out to you: "Name the cigarette that you consider best for us," would you not be compelled to answer: "LORD SALISBURY?" And when you ask me why I am so positive in the form of my question, I will answer you:

Because extremes meet in Lord Salisbury—highest possible standard of quality and lowest possible price—AND

Because The American Tobacco Company's LORD SALISBURY is the only 100% pure all-Turkish-tobacco cigarette in the world that sells for as little money as 15 cents for 20.

Cordially yours,

SMALL CHANCE OF A SPLIT IN CALIFORNIA VOTE

San Francisco, Nov. 21.—Little likelihood of a split electoral vote in California was seen here today by the Republicans who have checked the unofficial election figures of fifty of the state's 58 counties. The eight missing counties, although they include the most populous in the state, will not develop any serious discrepancies, according to some of the party leaders who say they have closely followed the trend of the canvases being made by the various county officials.

President Wilson's plurality, according to the check of the Republicans, will be not less than 3,416. These figures in all phases of highway building mapped out.

Credit Rather Than Criticism.

In a speech welcoming the National Grange to Washington the other day President Wilson reiterated a cry that has been raised by many speakers and writers, namely, that the farmers of the country ought to produce more in order to reduce the cost of living. He blamed the middleman for some of the trouble and said "We ought to raise such big crops that circumstances like the present can never recur." He said that any shortage in crops gives the middleman a chance for manipulation and to wring undue profits from customers. Taking this view of the case, the remedy is extremely simple. It is for the farmers to raise enough to glut the markets. This would bring prices down in spite of anything the middleman could do and there would be great relief on the part of consumers.

But how about the farmer? Where would his share of the prosperity come in? It is argued that if he conducted his business properly he could raise a great deal more at less cost, thereby relieving the people from high prices for food stuffs and getting rich at the same time.

But why should the farmer be asked to take this course any more than the manufacturer? Shoes are high but no one urges the manufacturers to double their output and compete to the death with one another in order to bring down the price. And the same is true of other lines of manufacture. The remedy in the field of manufacture is to curtail production when prices become too low to suit, and it works like a charm. But the public has to settle and no army of speakers and writers rises up to protest against the practice, which is recognized as "business" and tolerated without complaint.

The fact is that, high as are farm products today, the prices are not disproportionate to those of other commodities, even after the middleman has done his worst. The farmer does not produce all the things he uses, and he has to settle roundly for what he buys. To suggest that he should increase his output and sell it for the same money he received for less is a glaring example of cowardice and selfishness.

Secretary Houston of the Department of Agriculture says the American farmer is the most efficient in the world. It is very certain that he is not so far behind the times as many imagine him to be. He is feeding the country well, besides being of large assistance to the rest of the world, and is doing this for less pay than most other workers demand for their services. This should entitle him to credit rather than criticism.

It is now claimed that pellagra, a disease that has been very troublesome in some parts of the country in recent years, can be controlled, but the public will feel easier when this has been demonstrated. In connection with this claim comes one that the disease is caused by the lack of effective sewage facilities. In view of the various other causes that have been assigned there will be a disposition to wait and see whether the scientists are on the right track now.

The Shakers are a rapidly waning sect. A colony in Kentucky owning $1,000,000 worth of property has been reduced to three members who are too old and infirm to manage the estate, and there is talk of having it turned over to the state. The Shakers are a very worthy people and for many years they flourished in various parts of the country, but their mode of living lacks popular appeal and they are going the way of all the earth.

An automobile race in California Saturday resulted in the killing of four persons. But it was a great race and a "record was broken." Perhaps such an accomplishment as this is worth four lives in the sporting world, but outside of that charmed circle it will hardly be so regarded.

Billy Sunday is giving Boston some different preaching from what it has been accustomed to, but just now he is the whole thing in that intellectual center. If the resultant good is proportionate to the commotion the city will be greatly benefited.

Kentucky is now working for state-wide prohibition. But will the thrifty people of the Blue Grass state go so far as to stop the manufacture of the stuff? It will probably be decided that this would be too big a chunk to bite off at one time.

The prognosticators are now giving the European war from one to two years more to come to an end. It is very certain that the end is not yet in sight, the more's the pity.

As a deadlock the Mexican-American joint commission is an unqualified success.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Blue New Year's Eve in New York

(From the New York Evening Sun)
The hardship of a law which forbids the popular desire for enjoyment will have its illustration on New Year's eve. New Year's Day falls on Monday. Because the day preceding is a Sunday the usual hilarious activities of the occasion will be restricted by blue laws closing places of entertainment.

Thousands upon thousands believe in the strict Sabbath, be it on New Year's eve or any other date. They represent the sound, standard conservative view. But Sunday asceticism is no longer universally or generally adhered to. If the law permitted, the theatres, restaurants and streets would be full of merry-makers in the final hours of 1916. The theatre and restaurant men know it and want to open their houses. The city authorities are not at liberty to sanction any illegal openings in contravention of the Sunday law. People likely to be deprived of their habitual frolic do not take the idea kindly.

The remedy might be in the abstract to amend the state law or reform the average conscience. Either the law, one might say, ought to be brought into conformity with the general belief as to what is right on Sunday or else the stricter minority should convert their fellows to a sense of the enormity of the free and easy Sabbath. As matters stand, however, the law represents the prevailing and no doubt the higher and better view. It may be hard on the posturers to have to give up a night's fun once in six or seven years, but it would be intolerable to have the ideals and beliefs of the vast majority outraged by tolerating an orgy within the twenty-four hours set apart by general consent as sacred.

This year we must all assent to a lame New Year's eve, or at least to the cessation of festivities at midnight of Saturday-Sunday.

The Long and Short of Life

(From the Baltimore American)
Skirts are to be longer in the spring, say the fashion authorities. It is in line with the innate perversity of all things feminine that the skirts will grow longer as the pulse of paterfamilias grows shorter.

Effect of Our Inefficiency

(From the Omaha Bee)

Just now the American people in general are paying for indulgence in the national habit of procrastination. We laugh at the man who didn't fix his cabin roof in good weather, and then follow his example faithfully. The fuel shortage in November might have been anticipated in June. Cold weather always comes in the fall, and the people always put off buying fuel until time to light the fires. This practice is not very complimentary to our national intelligence, and could very well be given over for the better way of making reasonable preparation. The time may yet come when we will lay in our winter fuel in the summer time, and not be compelled to shiver during cold weather while waiting for the slow movement of blockaded traffic. The railroads are not to blame for the shortages so much as the American people, who put off buying till the rush is on.

Bring Pershing Back.

(From the Boston Transcript)

It is difficult to tell from today's dispatches whether the "New London Atlantic City Incident" over "the plumbly failure" in Mexico is on the verge of a tentative agreement or permanent disagreement. Having prolonged it past election day the American members are apparently authorized to end further parleying unless they can persuade or intimidate the Mexicans to accept terms that will bear reduction to writing and publication on this side the Rio Grande. After a conference at the White House the cabinet member of the American group, Mr. Lane, submitted a memorandum setting forth the willingness of the United States to withdraw its troops from Mexico within ninety days if, in the meantime, American territory was not again invaded or American troops again attacked; and the determination of the United States to patrol its own side of the border and to renew its invasion of Mexico for purposes of pursuit in the event of another raid, regardless of the pleasure of the Mexican Government. In the face of these terms the Mexican members asked for time in which to communicate with their Government. Temporarily on horseback somewhere between Mexico City and Queretaro, Pershing Carranza's reply to his commissioners' request for instructions, the conference adjourned, and its evangelic member, Mr. Mott, went west to deliver a Y. M. C. A. address, while its chairman, and obstreperous member, Mr. Cabrera, started upon a mysterious mission to Philadelphia.

Eight months ago today our cavalry column, in command of General Pershing, crossed the border below the New Mexican town of Columbus. In pursuit of the Mexican bandits who had sacked it the week previous and murdered many of its inhabitants. Theoretically there was a punitive expedition whose single purpose was the capture, dead or alive, of Villa and his army. Actually it was an inadequate military occupation the execution of whose mission was rendered impossible from the start by the failure of our Government to back it up with intelligent instructions or adequate reinforcements. Theoretically the Carranza forces were our allies and friends. Actually they proved to be our enemies at every point, opposing our troops by day and sniping them by night. Then came the deadly ambuscade at Carrizal, where the Carranza Government made good its ultimatum and massacred several troops of the Tenth Cavalry, with the warning that any movement of the expedition save to the border would be followed by additional massacres. Under orders from Washington the Pershing Expedition retreated. In the face of Carranza's threat, as far north as Colonia Dublan, and there entrenched Officers and men alike have suffered sickness and hardships of which the nation knows little or nothing. Many have been attacked by dysentery and other diseases but neither the list of fatalities nor the sick list has been published. Under all the circumstances we owe it to the army to bring the Pershing Expedition home, and enable the officers and men to recuperate as rapidly as possible. The presidential campaign is at an end. No votes will be made or lost by such a move and many lives may thereby be saved. Whatever happens at Atlantic City within the next fortnight the withdrawal of our troops from Mexico ought to be begun at once. They deserve it and the health and morale of the command require it.

Getting Along With Wilson

(From the Waterbury American, Ind.)

"In view of what you thought of Wilson during the campaign it looks inconsistent at least to have you printing so much in his favor now, not saying yourself, to be sure, but copying from friendly papers." So a reader writes. Well, we have got to live with Wilson for four years and are going to make it as endurable as possible. We are going to see his good side, if he has one. We are going to agree with him when we can and differ with him only when we must. His course, which we found fault with, has been endorsed by the people and he has authority to go ahead. We can't stop him, if we would, and now that he is elected, wouldn't put an obstacle in his way, if we could. We should like to have his success give him courage and stability and make him as strong a President as he was clever a candidate.

Western Political Slang

(From the Chicago Evening Post.)

The West still keeps at its job of providing us with picturesque political slang. Along the Pacific coast the "dry" wave has produced adjectives describing its various gradations, and of these the absolute teetotal prohibition extreme is succinctly known as a "bone-dry" law. To the western eye nothing could be much drier than the parched bone heaps on the arid plains. To the plains, also, the Westerner goes for a label for those lawbreakers whom even he considers eccentrically radical. He calls them "crazy-horses."

We must look to the west with even greater respect than ever since its political emergence of Tuesday, Nov. 7. We must begin to learn its language in the dim, far-off hope of making New York understand it better.

They've Got Away From Us!

(From the Baltimore American)

In Munich the women street car conductors are to remain after the war. It is going to be very hard after emancipation to get the women workers back to cooking and dishwashing.

Value Great, Cost Little

(From the San Antonio Light.)

The American people could never adequately liquidate in dollars and cents the debt they owe to the men who protect the nation. Only a deep sense of patriotic duty can hold in the army men whose ability would be more highly appreciated from the pecuniary standpoint, if applied to the great enterprises of civil life. In this day of high prices, national security as afforded by our military men appears to be about the cheapest item on the American people's list of expenses.

State Paternalism Scored

(From the New York Evening Post)

The argument for text-books published by the State is subjected to the redoubt ad absurdum by the Kansas Teacher. "If it is well for the state to manufacture books," is asked, "why not have a plant to manufacture seats and desks, crassers, pencils, pens, water-colors, maps, and chalk? And if the state printing plant can best serve the schools, why not let the plant do the printing for all the county offices of the State? Why not have a state newspaper to print all the legal notices of the state? Why should the country newspapers be permitted to 'rob' the public, when the state has a printing plant that could easily be extended? Parents of the school children of Kansas probably spend annually two and one-half millions of dollars for school shoes. Here is a neglected opportunity. Let the state establish a state school shoe plant at Lansing, and furnish these school shoes to the school children's parents at actual cost." But the Teacher is too much in earnest to stop with sarcasm. It is arguing from experience, and not from theory, and it puts the whole case in a nutshell when it declares:

"If the schools exist for the good of the children, rather than for the benefit of the politicians; if the selection of a first-class series of readers for the use of a quarter of a million pupils means more than the saving of three-fourths of a cent to each parent of these pupils by adopting an inferior edition, then state publication is without excuse or defence."

YORK WOMAN IS FATALLY BURNED

Mrs. Carrie Whitten Catches Dress on Stove While on Way to Telephone.

Mrs. Carrie Whitten of York died at the York hospital on Wednesday as the result of burns sustained from an oil stove. Mrs. Whitten ran to answer a telephone call and in passing the stove her dress caught in it and immediately took fire. When brought to the hospital her body was completely covered with burns. She died about two hours later. She was a former resident of Portland and is survived by three daughters.

WOMEN READY FOR DRIVE ON CONGRESS

Washington, Nov. 23.—Leading women suffragists are arriving here from all parts of the United States to line up for a fight before congress for the purpose of securing a vote on the federal suffrage amendment as soon as possible after the session begins on December 4. They hope to have the amendment finally submitted to the states for ratification before the adjournment of the congress recently elected.

A large corps of women will be assigned to the task of conducting the lobby work in what is expected to be the most vigorous attempt yet made to pass through the amendment.

On the strength of written pledges received by suffrage officials from many successful candidates it is predicted that the issue will be injected into the deliberations of the house and senate at an early stage. The National American Woman Suffrage Association announced today that a host of candidates of both parties made pre-election promises to the association that if elected they would support the amendment.

Among those already on the ground and primed for a fight is Miss Maud Younger of San Francisco who had charge of the congressional lobby work here last winter. In the pre-election days she took the stump for the woman's party in Wyoming, Utah, Nevada, Montana and California.

In the forthcoming drive upon congress she will have as one of her chief lieutenants Mrs. Walter McNab Miller, of Missouri, first vice president of the association. Because of the non-partisan attitude assumed by the suffrage association in the campaign the women assert there will be no party opposition to their plans in either house. They expect to encounter little friction at either end of the capital although the house probably will be under Republican and the senate under Democratic control.

Other women here to aid in the "votes for women" struggle are Miss Lucy Burns, vice chairman of the Congressional Union; Miss Anne Martin, national chairman of the woman's party, and Miss Alice Paul, national chairman of the Congressional Union. The presence of Miss Jeannette Rankin, the new Montana congressional representative on the floor of the house will be a tower of strength to the advocates of the passage of a woman suffrage amendment, suffragist leaders believe.

SENTENCES BOY TO THROW 1000 STONES.

If 10-year-old Leonard Crowder of 737 Boston street, Lynn, doesn't get the stone-throwing "bug" out of his system during the next two days it will not be the fault of Judge Lammum of Lynn police court. The judge on Wednesday ordered the boy to throw 1000 stones during the next two days, because he threw one at a girl and cut her scalp.

During the trial of the case it was testified that the boy threw a stone last summer which permanently injured the eye of John Buchanan.

Judge Lammum ordered Probation Officer Thomas A. Farmer to select a gravel pit and have Leonard throw 1000 stones in the manner that boys generally throw them. He will not be permitted to toss them. He must wind up each time and throw with the full movement of the arm. Farmer will count as the boy throws.

"This boy seems to have a mania for throwing stones," said the judge, "and I guess we'd better get it out of his system."

If Crowder's right arm doesn't ache Friday night when he goes to bed he must be in exceptional physical condition.

Portsmouth was well represented at the Rye Wilson celebration on Wednesday.

Democrats Held Monster Celebration in Honor of Wilson Victory—Illuminated Auto Parade, Speaking, Supper and Dance Included in Program

Not since the days of the Hayes-Tilden fight has Rye seen anything in a political campaign parade to equal the big democratic demonstration held on Wednesday evening in celebration of reelection to the presidency of the United States of Woodrow Wilson. The parade was unique in that it was probably the first political parade to be composed entirely of automobiles and more than 75 machines, the greater part of them of the seven-passenger type of touring car, were in the line. Rye, from Rye Center to West Rye, and Rye Beach, was one line of lights as nearly every house on the principal streets of the four miles through which the parade moved, was brilliantly illuminated. The parade was in charge of the Rye Democratic Committee and its personnel included practically every member of the party in the town in addition to a large number from the surrounding towns and from this city, invitations having been sent out by the committee.

The parade was led by a car containing Wallace A. Goss, A. H. Drake, A. R. H. Foss, and Charles Renick, members of the committee in charge, and Jesses Locke, Parade Marshal. This car was followed by the Portsmouth City Band in a large auto truck and then, in single file, the other cars followed. It was estimated that nearly four hundred men were in the line in the 75 or more cars.

Each of the automobiles in the line were filled with men carrying torches and the entire route was lined with red fire, Wilson banners and American flags were prominent in the parade and it was a wonderful sight to see the line of illuminated cars moving through the streets. The careful planning of the committee in charge of the parade resulted in perfect execution of the affair and from the start of the parade until the last dance in the Rye Town Hall was over, the evening was a big success. The parade started at 8.00 o'clock and moved from Rye Center through the principal streets to West Rye, to Rye Beach, and returned to the center where the parade was dismissed. The meeting was addressed by a number of the most prominent democrats of this section. Wallace A. Goss acting as presiding officer. The speakers included Senator Fleet Calvin Page; Ex-mayor Daniel Wesley Judger; and Mayor S. T. Ladd, all of this city; Oliver Marvin of New Castle; Elmer Priddham and Albert H. Drake, democratic representatives-elect; Samuel W. Emery of Portsmouth; Senator John Parsons of Portsmouth; and P. J. Kennedy of Boston. The meeting was opened with prayer by the Rev. Archie Webb, pastor of the Rye Christian church.

After the opening prayer by the Rev. Mr. Webb Mr. Goss, the chairman of the evening, read a letter to the town committee from President Wilson, wishing the Democratic Town Committee continued success and thanking them for their support at the poles two weeks ago last Tuesday. The letter was signed by Mr. Tumulty, private secretary to President Wilson. Following the closing of the meeting the entire gathering adjourned to another hall when an oyster supper was served covers being laid for 400. The supper was in charge of Mrs. Joseph Drake and Mrs. Abbott Drake and they were assisted by twenty-four young ladies acting as waitresses. The menu was excellent and included: Oyster stew, pickles, salads, pastry, ices, rolls, and coffee. After supper had been served the floor was cleared and dancing was enjoyed by more than 100 couples until midnight. The committee in charge deserved all of the credit which was given by the guests for the affair was a real success both socially and politically.

MANCHESTER MAN REJECTED, HE SHOTS GIRL

Then Fred Denning Ends His Own Life With a Bullet.

Manchester, N. H., Nov. 23.—Smarting because the girl spurned his attentions, Fred J. Denning, 42 years old of 71 Canton street, last night attempted to kill Ruby Pearl Danforth, 18 years old of 93 Laurel street, and then turned the weapon upon himself with fatal results.

Denning was a railroad man and some years ago lost a leg by being run over by a train. He worked under the direction of the girl's father, E. Herbert Danforth, a railroad boss, and Denning was a frequent visitor at Danforth's home.

Denning has persisted in paying Miss Danforth attention, but she claims she always turned him down and repeatedly refused to accompany him to many places of entertainment. Tuesday night he called and renewed his efforts to induce her to keep company with him and was told by her that she wanted nothing to do with him.

He remained at the house all night, sleeping in a chair in the living room where the girl saw him as she went to her work in the McElwain Central shoe working plant this morning.

Miss Danforth returned from work last evening and was in her room when her younger brother informed her that Denning had just come in. Miss Danforth was still in her room when the door opened and Denning walked in and closed the door.

He drew a revolver from his hip pocket and fired at her. Before he could discharge the weapon a second time the girl sprang upon him fiercely and with such suddenness as to throw him down and before he could regain his feet she had fled from the house and ran to a drug store at the corner of Pine and Merimac streets.

She was covered with blood which was flowing from a wound in her face. Information was telephoned to police headquarters, a detail of officers appearing soon afterward with the ambulance and conveyed the girl to the Sacred Heart hospital.

An examination showed that the bullet had struck her on the right side of the jaw making a ragged wound, and then had been deflected downward entering the neck and striking the collarbone. It was imbedded just beneath the skin and was easily removed. Her injuries are not considered serious.

The police found Denning in a dying condition. He had shot himself just above the right ear, the bullet passing directly through his head. He was breathing but did not regain consciousness.

The weapon he used was a new revolver of 32 calibre. It contained two unused cartridges, and showed two shots had been fired.

Denning has a mother and two sisters living in Manchester.

ELEVATED DEATH CAR MOTORMAN HELD FOR TRIAL

WALSH ARRESTED ON SECRET
INDICTMENT AND ARRAIGNED FOR ELECTION NIGHT TRAGEDY.

Boston, Nov. 22.—Gerald Walsh, motorman of the car of death which on election night ran into the open draw of the Summer street bridge, trapping the passengers inside the car, was arraigned at 7 o'clock today before Judge Sisk in the Suffolk superior criminal court on an indictment charging manslaughter.

He pleaded not guilty to the charges and was held under bail for trial.

Walsh was arrested on a secret indictment returned by the Suffolk grand jury, which reported today to Judge White in another session of the superior court.

Walsh has steadfastly claimed since the accident that the lanterns on the bridge and the gate were not lighted on the night of the catastrophe and that he could not see that the draw was open.

The car was filled with persons coming from South Boston to the city. Darkness had set in. With a noise that was heard for blocks the car crashed through the guard gate of the bridge and was hurled 30 feet into the waters of the Port Point channel.

CAPTURE OF CRAIOVA IS IS MENACE TO ROUMANIANS

London, Nov. 22.—London made no attempt today to disguise its fear of the gravity of the German whirlwind advance into western Roumania, indicated in the fall of Craiova.

Military experts and economists were greatly concerned to know whether the Roumanians had sufficient advance information of the speed of the German enveloping movement, engineered by Gen. von Falkenhayn, to remove from Craiova the vast stores of grain known to be there.

Germany desperately needs such wheat and hope is expressed here that fragmentary addresses indicating that the Craiova granaries had been exhausted long before the German occupation will be confirmed.

As yet no word has been received direct from Bucharest admitting capture of the city by the Germans or explaining what effect this capture will have on the campaign in Wallachia.

The London press made no effort to disguise today the menace seen in the amazingly swift progress by which Falkenhayn's army swept into Roumania and took the Wallachian city. A temporary and local collapse of the entire Roumanian defensive was feared.

What London is most anxious now to ascertain is whether the Roumanian army, which von Falkenhayn's bold move sought to envelop can escape the jaws of the German vise and successfully evade crushing from the north and south pressure. With Craiova in German hands the Roumanian railway communications to the Orsova section are cut off. The Roumanian army in Orsova is in an exceedingly precarious position.

Submarine Seizes Mail
Marseilles, Nov. 22.—The Greek steamer Brissos has arrived here and reports that she was stopped by a submarine which seized 118 sacks of mail and forced her to throw her cargo overboard.

Alies Keeping For an Run in Monastir Flight.
Paris, Nov. 22.—Hot pursuit of the retreating Bulgarian-German army forced out of Monastir is still being made by the allied forces.

The Serbians in particular, heartened by the occupation of their ancient city of Monastir, are pressing on irresistibly to the north, forcing back the Teutonic line toward Prilep. An enormous store of supplies and military impediments abandoned by the Teutons in their flight has been captured. No estimate of its value is yet obtainable, but fragmentary addresses say that included is a big store of food railway rolling stock and engineering materials. All will be of inestimable value to Gen. Serrail's forces.

Dispatches today indicated great activity by the Italian forces engaged along the Macedonian front. Occupying the front to the west of Monastir, they are pushing on in the Muz region.

Germans Take Height on Macedonian Front
Berlin, wireless to Sayville, Nov. 22.—The capture by German forces of a height near Parnalova, on the Macedonian front, 10 miles northeast of Monastir, is announced officially. Following is the war office report from this theatre of war:

"Between Lake Ochrida and Lake Presha and on the Monastir plains van guards of the entente forces came within reach of the German and Bulgarian positions."

"East of Parnalova our rifles of the guard recaptured a height and maintained it against several strong attacks. Artillery shelling British."

London, Nov. 22.—Active artillery firing from the enemy was reported by Gen. Sir Douglas Haig from the Ancre front today. He said the activity was centred on the British right front, south of the Ancre. To the north British forces drove off a hostile patrol.

RAID BRITISH TRENCHES AND CAPTURE MEN

GERMAN PATROLS PERFORMING EXPLOIT DESTROY DEFENCES AND TAKE GUN.

Berlin, via Sayville wireless, Nov. 22.—Penetration by two German detachments into British trenches, destruction of these defensive works and capture of a number of prisoners was announced in today's official statement.

"South of La Bassée canal" the statement said, "patrols of the 33d Anhalt regiment and the 4th Magdeburg pioneer battalion entered British trenches and after destroying defensive establishments brought back more than 20 prisoners and one machine gun."

Foggy weather the report said, interfered with operations. Along the Somme section there was a limited amount of artillery firing. In the evening it increased along both banks of the Ancre and on St. Pierre Vaast wood. A British attack northwest of Serre broke down under German fire.

A LAXATIVE THAT YOU LIKE TO TAKE

"In these days when people are so generally awake to the vital importance of keeping the bowels regular," says C. S. Brewster & Co., of Dover, "the popular druggists, it is very gratifying to have one effective and reliable remedy which everyone likes to take."

"Of course we have handled Abbey's Effervescent Salts for some time, but recently there seems to be a greater realization of the many evils of Constipation than ever before. This, and the new bottle of Abbey's, larger than before but at the old price, have brought its use into greater prominence and have made evident to us more than ever the many reasons for its popularity."

Abbey's Salts cleanse the system and rid you of headaches, dizziness, constipation and their attendant ills. Call at your druggist's and try a bottle today.

NOONE TELLS THE PRESIDENT HOW IT WAS DONE

Hon. Albert Noone, a former state councillor and Democratic candidate in the last primary election for governor has sent the following letter to President Wilson in which he takes the credit for keeping the democracy in the hearts of the voters and carrying the state for Wilson:

Washington, D. C.
My Dear Mr. President:—
I am herewith enclosing you a couple of clippings from New Hampshire papers.

It was through my efforts and my financial backing to the Democratic party of New Hampshire that the state was carried by Woodrow Wilson. People may say what they wish and make their own claims, but it was my support to the Democratic party of New Hampshire during the last four years that kept it alive and eventually made it a winner.

My full support was given Woodrow Wilson both at the Baltimore and St. Louis conventions.

Yours respectfully,
Albert W. Noone.

TWELVE INJURED WHEN BUILDING COLLAPSEDWorkmen Were Buried Under Timber and Debris in Cellar.

New York, Nov. 23.—Twelve men were seriously injured and one is reported missing as the result of the collapse of a three story garage under construction at the junction of 634 street and 32 avenue. Twenty-seven masons, laborers, were caught when walls and roof fell and were carried two or three stories to the cellar and were buried under the timber and debris. The twelve were dug out from under steel girders and beams badly crushed.

THE HERALD HEARS

That nearly three hundred people from this city were at the bye election on Wednesday.

That a few of the boys came home with souvenirs.

That Portsmouth seems to get a bit of good news about the navy and nearly every day.

That one of the employees of the signal department of the Boston & Maine had some experience in a hunt between York and South Berwick.

That his comrades with him on the hunt claim that he put three shots in to the animal and dropped him.

That he then went to bleed him and to his surprise the animal arose and kicked him fore and aft.

That had it not been for the notice of the others in the party, he would have gone to the hospital.

That he came out alive and is now able to distribute several pounds of venison to his friends on the Boston & Maine.

That it looks as if several cases in the superior court docket will go over to the January term to be heard in Exeter.

That Captain George Chandler of ward four tossed his hat into the ring today for councilman at large.

That George says he can win and wage a very active campaign.

That he has the promise of many Democratic votes as well as those of his own party.

That John Doveney has returned from a cruise on one of the barges of the Consolidation Coal Company.

That Jack has many tales of the sea to relate as the result of his six month's voyage.

That he also has a song which he composed and expects to make a big hit with the same.

That the title is: "God Help a Poor Sailor on a Night Like This."

That he says the rendition of this pathetic ballad will bring tears to the eyes of the toughest salt that ever sailed the briny deep.

That the "silence policemen" have been ordered in for the winter by the commissioners.

That they need repairs and also a bath.

That eminent doctors declare indigestion is a disease.

That victims of that disease look very healthy.

That a well known local employee of the Boston & Maine will run for assessor of taxes.

That he believes he can win, and if elected show the city something new in the work attached to the assessing department.

That the Morley Hutton Company has several other building plans under consideration.

That the Republican party in this state spent $20,510.43 during the last campaign.

That the permanent men in the fire department want more pay.

That the petition for the same will be presented to the city government tonight.

That the Portsmouth Democratic city committee spent $228.60 during the last campaign.

PARISH RECEPTION HELD ON WEDNESDAY

The hall presented flags of all nations and the tables bore beautiful yellow chrysanthemums. Miss Stewart, Mrs. Charles Beaton, Mrs. Mark Piper and Miss Margaret Goodwin poured tea. Mrs. Ira St. Clair was hostess, assisted by Mrs. Norris Parker and Mrs. George Kaula.

PEOPLES' OPINIONS.Let the Sports Be Judges

Editor—In a recent sporting article appearing in a local paper reference has been made almost daily to the 1916 football teams of 1906 and 1907 as being championship eleven. While it is recognized that those teams were good, still they did not greatly exceed the teams of the years immediately preceding them. If history is correct the team of 1907 challenged Lebanon High for the State Championship and came out on the short end of a 27-0 score. In those days a touchdown counted five points, thus it appears that Lebanon made five touchdowns and two goals. Can this team be called championship? In the last ten years football has undergone many changes and while a comparison may be difficult it would appear that teams of nine or ten years ago. To any fair judge of the game the team of the fall of 1911 was certainly what would be called a championship team. The state championship was played at Manchester between Portsmouth and Stevens High schools and resulted in a 6-6 tie, with Portsmouth playing the better game. While the local eleven did not actually win, still they did not lose and neither did they lose a game during the season. Yet it is said the 1907 team was a championship eleven even though they came out on the short end of a 27-0 score. Coming down to the present year we find a team of great possibilities, which, considering the many unavoidable setbacks, may safely be considered as one of the good teams. While it is readily admitted that the team of 1907 was good it is not necessary to call attention to it daily, especially when a P. H. S. man can look back to the teams of the last five years with pride. The sport lovers do not easily forget a championship team. Why not let them be the judges.

SEWING FOR THE HOSPITAL.

The linen supply of every hospital is in constant need of replenishing. There is so much of this work to be done, that the staff of the hospital can ill afford the time to undertake it. In almost all other towns, where there is a hospital, groups of women have taken the entire responsibility of making and supplying all these necessities. The Portsmouth hospital needs just such a committee to keep up the operating room supplies, surgical shirts, bandages, sponges, pads, etc. Will any one who can sew and is interested in this work, come to the Nurses' home, Friday mornings at 10 o'clock. The need is most pressing.

TOOK HIM OFF A TRAIN.

The police were called to the railroad station this morning where they took Oren Marston, a resident of North Hampton, off a train at the request of relatives. Marston left home during a period of temporary insanity and was on his way to Rochester.

"The Wolf Woman" is a new type, of "Hank of Hair Lady." She is a modern siren and not at all like the traditional "Rag and a Bone" the classic tells about. She regards man as her rightful prey.

In creating the "Wolf Woman" C. Gardner Sullivan used the clay mould of life with a daring disregard for the artificialities of conventional dramatic construction. He has us, mercy on the "Wolf Woman" and crowns her career of self glorification and malicious destruction with ruin and disfigurement.

Miss Glaum wears ten sensational gowns worth $25,000 and jewels of rare value and brilliancy.

This story evolves an abnormal characterization. It shows the type of woman in the atmosphere of "Orientalism" who thrives on her power and influence over men. The consciousness of her own magnetism buoy's her up in her hours of defeat. Up to the moment of her own destruction she leaves behind her a path strewn with wrecked hearts and souls of men. A good woman is injected into the story by contrast and ultimately it is shown that virtue will have its reward.

The final scenes are gripping and startling in their realism. The scenes are replete with tapestries and art treasures, creating an oriental atmosphere of mystery and voluptuousness.
